MURDERER OF CRAIG FAMILY CAUGHT IN TEXAS

Henry Lowry, negro, slayer of O. T. Craig, prominent planter of Nodena, Ark., near Wilson, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. C. O. Williamson, on December 25, has been captured by the police at El Paso, Tex., and will be returned to Wilson at once, states a dispatch from Wilson Wednesday. Lowry also seriously wounded Hugh and Richard Craig, sons of O. T. Craig. Richard Craig is still lingering near death in a Memphis hospital.

Lowry was traced through letters written back to Nodena to negro friends. These were intercepted and notice in the Texas city were notified to arrest Lowry when he called for mail in answer to his letters.

The negro who received the letters has been captured and is in jail at Wilson. He is declared to have admitted that Lowry spent the night after the murder at the home of a negro tenant near the scene of the killing. This was while several possees were searching the entire section.

Officers have left to bring Lowry back to Nodena. It is declared that in event of his being placed in jail at the small town that it will be only a question of hours before he is lynched. Feeling over the affair has subsided but little, and many say that others implicated may be lynched at the same time.

The negro became violently hysterical after his arrest. When he had calmed down, he said to the detectives:

"If they ever get me back to Turrell, they'll burn me and never give me a trial. I know it, boss. For God's sake shoot me now or give me a razor and I'll do the job myself. I'll never be a day in jail at Turrell before I am burned at the stake."

According to information received at Wilson, Lowry killed the two during a Christmas Eve celebration. A posse was hurriedly formed, but Lowry made his escape. He declares, however, that he did not fire until he had been wounded by the white man. He claims a doesn't know how many he killed or who they were, but admits he emptied an automatic pistol into the crowd that was pursuing him. Lowry told the following story:

"When the mob formed and look after me I ran and hid in the brush till after dark. Then I began crawling and crawled till morning. Lots of time men in the posse were near me and once they nearly stepped on me. It was cold and much of the time I had to crawl through mud and water."

Succeeding in eluding the mob, Lowry says he made his way to a railroad and went to Dallas, Texas, and from there went to El Paso. Arrived in El Paso, he says, he wrote home to find out how many and who he had shot. It was that letter, authorities say, that revealed his presence in El Paso. Lowry said he would not fight extradition, but declared he'd rather be sent back dead than alive, as he is certain he will be lynched. The negro still carries a wound in the arm, which he insists is from a bullet fired at him before he fired at the crowd.

Had Enough of That Number. A North Carolina man whose automobile license was numbered 13 sent it back to the secretary of state with a letter saying: "The first day I rode with it, I lost $13, and the second day I lost 13 inches of skin off my leg. Please send me a safer number." He got it.

BAPTIST MINISTER DIES IN MEMPHIS HOSPITAL

Rev. Thomas S. Potts, DD., a leading minister of the Baptist denomination and for many years one of the most popular pastors in Memphis, died at the Baptist Memorial Hospital in that city Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock. Dr. Potts would have been 62 years old had he lived until February 14.

Dr. Potts was taken ill Tuesday afternoon and was carried to the Baptist Hospital, where he was said to be suffering from acute stomach trouble. About 4 o'clock he suffered a relapse and died in a short time. He was a native of Texas.

Dr. Potts was an extraordinary culture and refinement and a preacher of exceptional ability. Dr. Potts was pastor of the Central Baptist church in Memphis for almost 20 years. He gave up the pastorate of the Central church in order to undertake the work as financial secretary for the erection of the Baptist Memorial Hospital. Dr. Potts raised the first money that was subscribed for the Baptist hospital. He was one of the prime movers in its erection and advocated it for many years before the campaign finally began.

For a time after the hospital was in actual operation Dr. Potts added to his work as financial secretary the responsibility of superintendent. He remained with the institution until it was firmly established, and resigned his place in 1914.

In recent years Dr. Potts has been pastor in San Antonio, Texas. During the war he preached to thousands of soldiers stationed at Kelly Field. About a year ago Dr. Potts returned to his home in Memphis.

AN OLD LETTER FROM ALF TAYLOR'S FATHER

The Rev. W. S. Neighbors, of Chattanooga, has sent to Gov. Alf Taylor a copy of the letter his father sent Gov. Bob Taylor on the occasion of his first inauguration as governor of Tennessee. The letter follows:

"My dear Son: As you enter today upon your official career as governor of Tennessee, I want to say a few things by way of encouragement. As a public officer you will meet success or failure just in proportion to your observance or non-observance of certain simple rules. Learn all your duties and then promptly and fearlessly discharge them. In every transaction be governed by the law, by the demand of an enlightened conscience, by the demand of the Supreme Divine code. Let no temptation induce you to ignore the requirements of your self-respect. Let your promises be few and strictly performed. Don't forget that the eyes and the ears of enemies are open to all you say and do; therefore, think much and let your words be well chosen. See all questionable cases, say and do those things that are clearly right and never doubtful. Place your hands in the hands of your Lord and see His guidance in every condition of life. And may the love and peace of God be with you always. Affectionately your father. "N. G. TAYLOR."

LOCALS FROM GARLAND

Mrs. J. E. McPeake has been quite sick since last Friday.

Rev. S. R. Hart filled his appointment at the Methodist church last Sunday, making a very interesting talk on "Forgetting the Past and Pressing Toward the Mark of the Prize of the High Calling of God."

Mr. Quintain Larimore, of Memphis, visited his father's family here this week. He brought with him Mr. Bob Vincent, who went to Memphis to undergo an operation. We learn that he is not much improved, as the doctors found they could not successfully operate.

There will be a meeting of the Garland School Community Club Friday night at the schoolhouse. A full attendance is requested.

Messrs. Mend Walk, Ephraim Thornton, Bruce Peeler and Clyde Lewis went to Pilger Tuesday duck hunting.

There will be preaching at the Baptist church Sunday and Sunday night by the pastor.

VICTIMS IMMUNE FROM INFLUENZA

Influenza attacks carry with them "a definite immunity to subsequent attacks lasting several years," according to the public health service, which has studied the disease since the 1918-19 epidemic.

"Inasmuch as the epidemic of 1918 and 1919 affected so very large a portion of the population," the statement added, "there would seem to be reasonable grounds that the 'flu' would not again assume the epidemic proportions of the past two years."

STRAWBERRIES TO TAKE PLACE OF OTHER CROPS

Every time the bottom drops out of cotton and tobacco markets our farmers turn to their old-time friend, the strawberry.

And that is what they are doing in this community right now—talking strawberries. Some of them are going to more than merely talk, too—they are making plans right now to put our several acres each. But the trouble has been heretofore that most of our growers did not put out a large enough acreage to justify the time and attention required to make the industry profitable.

No grower ought to put out less than five acres.

Almost as much time will be required to pack and market one-acre as five. An overseer is required in the patch most of the time, a packer and receiver must be constantly on the job and a team must be on the road delivering the products of an acre to market, when the same efforts would take care of five or more acres.

There can be no doubt as to the profit in growing berries, if the grower will but stay with it for a period of years, while, upon the other hand, it does not pay, perhaps, to grow berries for one or two years.

There ought to be concert of action upon the part of every banker, every merchant, every lawyer, doctor and every business man of this community to encourage this profitable industry. And now is the accepted time to start. The farmers are in a wicker mood to go in for berries upon a big scale, and since there is no doubt as to its being a profitable industry no one need hesitate urging berry growing by our farmers. —Dresden Enterprise.

ATTACHMENT NOTICE

S. O. Deverell, W. W. Archer and N. A. Selph vs. G. W. Baxter—Attachment before J. J. Mann. Order for Publication of Notice of Attachment.

It appearing to me that a writ of attachment heretofore issued in this cause against the defendant, G. W. Baxter, who, under oath, is alleged to have absconded, to have removed himself from the State of Tennessee, and to be a non-resident of the State of Tennessee, for the recovery of the sum of $490.40, alleged by the plaintiffs to be justly owed to them from said G. W. Baxter by note, has been duly executed by seizure of property of defendant and due return thereof made to me, it is ordered that publication of a notice be therefore made for four consecutive weeks in the Covington Leader, a newspaper published in Tipton County, Tennessee, requiring the defendant, G. W. Baxter, to appear at my office in the 10th Civil District of said county, at 11 o'clock a. m., on February 18, 1921, before me, the Justice having cognizance of said case, and then and there defend the action thus commenced against him by attachment, or otherwise the case will be proceeded with ex parte as to him.

HE PAID $175,000 BEFORE HE LEARNED

A Western farmer, 65 years old, went into court recently and asked the judge to appoint a guardian for him. He explained that he owned 100 acres of good land, on which was first-class modern improvements. He had farmed for more than 40 years. He had made it pay. He had started with nothing and was now worth anywhere from $40,000 to $50,000, all clear.

Why did he ask the court to appoint a guardian for him?

Because he had listened to the beguiling talk of various stock salesmen, had been carried away by their promises of big and prompt profits, and had bought stock to the amount of $175,000. He had signed notes for almost the entire amount—four times what he was worth as a result of a lifetime of hard work.

The court appointed a guardian, who has prevailed upon several companies to return notes given for stock to the amount of $85,000. Other notes will be contested on the ground that they were obtained through fraud. Had not the court stepped in, that farmer would have been ruined.

Whether it is farming, carpentering or what, one of the first things to learn is to say "No" to the "get-rich-quick" tempter, who comes under various disguises nowadays. It is far better to earn a good steady living and 10 per cent. on a well cultivated farm than to go to this no-house eluding a million dollars' worth of worthless promises.—Selected.

Previous to 1914 we owed England so much money that the annual interest was 300 million dollars. Now England is paying us 150 million dollars a year interest. Before the war we owed about four billion dollars abroad. Today the net indebtedness of Europe to America is 10 billion dollars. We possess about one-third or more of the total wealth of the world. America is now the richest nation and the financial center of the world. Before the war England was the greatest ship-owning nation. After 1920 America will have twice as many ships as England.

At the dawn of the greatest era in our history every citizen of the United States should get these big facts indelibly in his mind.—Shop Mark.

SILVER SPRING, FLORIDA

If the "fountain of eternal youth" should ever be found it is likely to be found in Florida, the state of many springs. The great natural development of underground drainage in the state has given rise to a large number of springs at places where streams emerge from subterranean channels, according to the United States Geological survey, Department of the Interior. They range in size from mere seeps to huge springs that are the sources of enough to float good-sized passenger and freight steamers.

Silver Spring, in Marion county, the best known as well as the largest spring in Florida, is appropriately named. The water emerges from a basin over 35 feet deep and is so clear that objects lying on the bottom of this huge finger bowl are distinctly visible. The source of this spring is the porous and cavernous Vicksburgian limestone. Much of the water enters the ground within a few miles of the spring and as it has not traveled far through the soluble limestone it is only slightly hard. The flow is about 385,000 gallons a minute, sufficient to form Silver Spring Run, a stream eight or nine feet deep in the middle and nearly 10 miles long from its source to its junction with Oklawaha river.
